

Come Paint The Southern Coast of Maine!

Ogunquit, Maine • June 6-11 2010

(5 day workshop for all levels)

This popular 5 day workshop will be Beth's 14th annual workshop in Ogunquit, Maine!

This is an ideal workshop for painters of all skill levels who enjoy the outdoor subject and the Southern Coast of Maine. Daily demos and lots of quality painting time offers artists a chance to grow in their understanding of technique, composition, drawing and color. This workshop will also focus on learning how to choose a subject, which can sometimes be an artist's biggest challenge. Pack up your brushes and get ready for an experience you'll totally enjoy!

Each day the class will head to a location that offers several good views. Beth begins each morning by doing a painting demo to help everyone get started. Students will have the rest of the morning to paint. Beth will be offering individual assistance during painting times. Students are welcome to pack a lunch or go to a local restaurant or deli during the lunch break. The afternoon painting session will be a different view at the chosen location of that day. (The afternoons are a wonderful time to paint and many students love that they are already warmed up from the morning session!)

Workshop Schedule:

Sunday Evening: 6:45-8:00 get-acquainted gathering
Monday-Thursday: 9:00-12:30 morning painting session
12:30-2:00 lunch break
2:00-4:30 afternoon painting session
Friday: 10-12:30 final review of work

This workshop is limited to 15 students and is filled on a first come basis.
